EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

On behalf of all of us at Hospitality House, we extend our deepest gratitude to our friends, colleagues and supporters for your generosity, your encouragement, and your belief in possibilities. Because of you, we celebrate another remarkable year of accomplishments, triumphs, milestones. Because of you, we've rediscovered something else...

The power of community.

This past year, San Franciscans continued to face the ongoing challenge of the COVID crisis, as well as the deadly drug overdose epidemic. In less than two years, more than 2,100 San Franciscans—family members, friends, neighbors— died of COVID-19 related causes or drug overdoses. A San Franciscan died of an overdose or COVID-19 every eight hours! Public health workers, first responders, nonprofit workers – to name but a few - faced unprecedented challenges, overwhelming physical and emotional burdens, unrelenting trauma, every day, every hour, seemingly every moment. They summoned courage, commitment, determination, and...

The power of community.

Our unforgettable experience with our 65-room Shelter-in-Place hotel reaffirmed what a community can accomplish even in the midst of crisis. It began as an experiment in simple survival - along the way, it became something more. We experienced belonging. We promised each other that, above all, our lives would be better – not worse – because of our journey together. By believing in each other, by trusting each other, by working hard for each other – we achieved a remarkable placement rate in permanent housing. We transformed one another along the way...

The power of community.

We at Hospitality House continue to be inspired by seemingly endless acts of simple human kindness – everyday acts by ordinary people accomplishing extraordinary things. Contributors from across the City, throughout California, and around the country have encouraged us, befriended us, and motivated us. Our community has encouraged us – so we can encourage each other. Our community has motivated us, so we can motivate each other. As you help us strive for better and grow together, we rediscover possibilities for each other, and fulfill the promise of...

REBUILDING LIVES CELEBRATING CREATIVITY STRENGTHENING COMMUNITY

HIGHLIGHTS OF FY 2021-2022

Our Employment Program helped nearly 550 low-income and homeless job seekers connect with employers through hiring and job fairs, individualized support services, job readiness resources, support groups, and networking with workforce agencies. Nearly 300 vulnerable job seekers secured full or part-time jobs. Dozens of new hires obtained stable housing because of employment earnings.

More than 130 artists, 4 local galleries, and nearly 400 community members, art enthusiasts, and Hospitality House supporters participated in THHE AUCTION, our 37th annual art auction celebrating the artists of our Community Arts Program. The event raised more than $100,000, in much-needed support for neighborhood artists.

By cultivating trust with each resident, Hospitality House's Shelter-In-Place (SIP) Hotel staff successfully relocated 77% of its residents to permanent supportive housing – the most success of any organization who partnered the City of San Francisco to manage the 25 SIP hotels established during the height of the pandemic.

Our Tenderloin Self-Help Centers provided peer counseling, case management, mental health services, vocational resources, substance use services, socialization activities, and access to basic amenities to nearly 7,000 individuals this past year.

Our Sixth Street Self-Help Center (SSHC) provided support for nearly 11,000 community members. The frontline staff of SSHC distributed more than 300 "Covid Care Kits" with masks, hand sanitizer, hygiene products, and information guides throughout the Sixth Street and South-of-Market neighborhoods.

SIXTH STREET SELF-HELP CENTER

The Sixth Street Self-Help Center offers a range of emergency, behavioral health, and support services, including but not limited to peer counseling, case management, housing referrals, income support, mental health and substance use resources, individual and group therapy, social engagement, and access to basic amenities. Nearly 11,000 low-income community members obtained support from these crucial services this past fiscal year.

TENDERLOIN SELF-HELP CENTER

The Tenderloin Self-Help Center offers low-threshold services for those who do not otherwise use traditional services, including peer counseling, case management, individual and group harm reduction therapy, peer-led support groups, and socialization activities. Nearly 7,000 community members utilized services at the Tenderloin Self-Help Center this past year.

“I only hope that the people who comprise HH and the community it serves can recognize all the good that is being done and can continue to provide the resources necessary so that everybody can do the job they need to do and the community is well served and at the end of the day, it’s a win win for everybody involved. More than anything else, I want to say thank you— thank you to Hospitality House... and to those that are giving of themselves to make Hospitality House better.”

Glenn, Community Member TSHC

COMMUNITY BUILDING PROGRAM

Our Community Building Program (CBP) is a hub for civic engagement, leadership development, and community building; offering housing support, civic engagement, and healing through our unique trauma-informed project to help residents manage and heal from the trauma of poverty; nearly 400 hundred community residents participated in 19 civic activities. CBP also hosted an essential vaccination and COVID-19 testing site and was an official voting location for Tenderloin neighborhood residents.

In the past year, nearly 400 formerly incarcerated community members participated in the Community Building Program’s “Committed To Change”, a unique re-entry group offering mentoring, employment, and housing support for those returning home.

Rediscovering the Power of Community

In Spring 2020, Hospitality House moved residents from our shelter into private hotel rooms, at the onset of the City's major COVID-19 outbreak. We were the City's first single adult shelter to take this life-saving step. Three months later, the City asked Hospitality House to staff a 65-room Shelter-in-Place (SIP) hotel for COVID-vulnerable residents.

Along the way, we learned so much about each other, about our work, about our humanity - in the midst of the pandemic. About economic injustice, racial inequities, and health care disparities in the City of St. Francis. Of human suffering and human frailties. Of human dignity.

We learned to appreciate the untold stories of so many faces from so many places. The power of human touch. We challenged our beliefs, suspended our judgements – and summoned our better selves for this renewed purpose. We reaffirmed our reason for being.

There were tears and triumphs, many difficult days, even longer nights. Dawn almost always brought new promise, but occasionally, it brought new heartbreak. We reimagined what we could inspire in each other, by opening our minds and hearts to new possibilities – even in tragedy. After the unfortunate death of a well-known resident, staff and residents needed a constructive way to grieve. With the help of Hospitality House Community Arts Program, they created a movable mural, with brushstrokes and quotes from residents, to celebrate the life of the deceased.

“The relationships that we have developed have been stored in my heart... Knowing that [we] had the opportunity and the power to change lives has been emotionally gratifying.”

Part of the continuing saga of Hospitality House. Eye contact. Open hearts. A kind word. And, as it turns out, a paint brush.

The people of the Shelter in Place Hotel at 587 Eddy left their mark on us. They touched us, taught us, transformed us. We exchanged the timeless gift of our humanity. In our two-year sojourn, we met many wandering souls. We also met a few soulful wanderers – memories all. As they embarked on their new journey – remarkably, more than 75 residents would secure permanent housing - many asked us the same question: “Will you come visit me when I move?”

Our answer is an enthusiastic YES! You helped us become better, stronger, and more hopeful. As our Hospitality House emergency shelter reopens this Fall, we've rediscovered a simple, but timeless lesson from the depths of the pandemic: we need each other.

We rediscovered the power of community.

The movable mural, “Power & Love” was a collaboration between staff and residents to provide a constructive way to grieve the devastating loss of a fellow resident.

COMMUNITY ARTS PROGRAM

The Community Arts Program offers the City's only free studio and gallery space for hundreds of low-income artists to create, house and sell artwork. We offer open studio hours, free supplies and skills workshops for community artists, and frequent exhibitions and themed shows. Each year, dozens of struggling artists keep 100% of the proceeds from art sales – a unique social enterprise.

“As a disabled person [Hospitality House] has shown me it's okay to ask for help. Out in the world people get forgotten about. There are incredible artists here that deserve notoriety. That's why every single sale I make feels like 'wow'.” Jamesy, Artist

CAP Artist Gigot creating his next masterpiece.

“I was surprised that you can do whatever you want for free [at the Community Arts Program]. It's a free space for art and to get inspiration. You can let yourself be free and have supplies. Being an artist is a privilege, not a lot of people have that opportunity. It's cool that now art has become more accessible and it makes me feel calm and is a reflection of my feelings. It helps me solve other problems in my life and it makes my heart grow. Especially it makes me a more compassionate person and it has been my therapy.” Dario, Artist

EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM

The Employment Program offers job readiness, employment and training resources, job hiring fairs, and job placement through two neighborhood job centers. We have relationships with dozens of Bay Area employers to connect hundreds of job seekers and we convene a coalition of community-based workforce providers to advocate for low-income job seekers.

“Knowing that you're a tiny part of a step in someone's life, whether that's getting an apartment, getting a job – maybe the first job or apartment they've ever had in their life, to have somewhere that is their own – knowing you're a part, even a teeny little part of that process, that's what [Case Management] is about.” Marissa Tibbs, Employment Case Manager

Through our Employment Program, nearly 300 job seekers obtained gainful full or part-time employment, almost one-third of homeless job seekers secured longer-term housing because of increased earnings, and 65% of new hires maintained employment for three months or more.

“[HH] stands out because [we] help people with A LOT of stuff. People can come in for employment, and so much more. We have so many resources for them.” Lecreatia Dixon, Employment Case Manager (left)

WALK WITH WINDY

Nearly 100 neighborhood residents and community members met at our Community Building Program in the Tenderloin for Hospitality House’s “Walk With Windy”. This one-of-a-kind voter mobilization effort was inspired by Hospitality House’s Director of Community Engagement Windy Click, a former “lifer” who chose to celebrate her first opportunity to vote after completing her parole in 2018 - by bringing community members to City Hall to vote! Since 2018, hundreds of community members have walked with Windy to City Hall to exercise their right to vote.

DONOR SPOTLIGHTS

Tipping Point Community
Hospitality House’s successful efforts to place dozens of Shelter in Place hotel residents in permanent supporting housing across the City were due in large part to our exciting partnership with Tipping Point Community.

Tipping Point’s barrier-busting initiative helped support more than 50 community members with move-in deposits, assistance with back rent, needed household items, and special furniture needs. Improved quality of life for vulnerable residents seeking more stable housing helps make San Francisco a better place for all.

Nothing ends homelessness like a home – our heartfelt thanks to our partners at Tipping Point Community!

Keith & Priscilla Geeslin
Multi-year investments from Keith & Priscilla Geeslin and the Geeslin Family Fund have spurred Hospitality House’s dramatic housing and job placements success for low-income residents and vulnerable job seekers.

You helped nearly 150 San Franciscans with resources for more stable housing, continuing education and specialized certifications, reuniting with estranged loved ones – even realizing their quality of life. Your remarkable commitment has inspired us to dream bigger, strive for better, and imagine new possibilities. For this, and so much more - we thank you.

San Francisco Foundation & The Bese Saka Initiative
We’re excited and honored to be part of San Francisco Foundation’s Bese Saka Initiative, investing in nearly 20 Bay Area Black-led organizations. Your support has enabled Hospitality House to connect with a powerful network of Black-led organizations and leaders, deepening our knowledge, building leadership capacity, and charting a brighter future together. Asé!

The Crankstart Foundation
The Crankstart Foundation’s stunning multi-year commitment to Hospitality House signals a new chapter in our history. Your support helped us launch a bold, organization-wide effort in intensive skills building and professional development, coalition-building and civic engagement, and trauma-informed trainings for community partners.

We are grateful beyond words for this game-changing investment.

SoMa Equity Partners
SoMa Equity Partners’ significant commitment made it possible for Hospitality House launch its first-ever retirement plan - building for the future by investing today. Additionally, you’ve enabled us to make historic investments in better compensation for all our dedicated staff who devote themselves to strengthening our community.

We are grateful for your belief in us.

Sandy Weil
Sandy Weil – for all you do for so many, in so many ways, lifting up the best of our humanity every day of the year. Our hearts are full of gratitude and appreciation. You teach us so much about generosity, about community in all its forms, and the healing power of kindness.

Grateful for your spirit. Love and respect, Sandy. Always.

Leslie & Merle Rabine
You’ve supported Hospitality House in so many ways through the years, and you’ve guided us through challenges and milestones. Your generosity continues to amaze us, and your unflinching commitment to social justice continues to inspire us. Your artistic gifts remind us of the creative spark that lives in each of us. Thank you for all you bring to us, every day.

Kurt Horspool & Marissa D’Orazio
Over the years, you’ve made perhaps the most valuable gift of all - the gift of time, from the heart. We’re so fortunate our paths crossed, and our community is better for it.
